

127147

4463. Raritan Bay Lead depositsby Billyborg, 9/6/07 8:19 ET*

To find the source of the lead being spread around the shores in Laurence Harbor you need look no farther then the Morgan Inlet to Cheesquake creek. The pilings there were set on very large lead bases full of slag to build the docks for the Robert E Lee Restaurant and bar. The lead was then covered with large stone. That is one spot NL corp was able to get rid of it's contaminants along with barges opening their waste gates as close as Keansburg and taking a trip to the ocean dump site and basically just turning around and coming back in. This was a practice used back in the 50's and I do remember seeing aerial photos of those barges with long slicks behind them them as they were brought out to sea. It was not just NL but also the paint company and the munitions plant.

Click to view these responses

1. Didn't you by CantBeatJack, 9/7/07
 1. No CantBeatJack by Billyborg, 9/7/07

Laser Hair Removal,
NJ

Procedures Performed
by a Licensed Female
Doctor. 0 Interest
Financing

Ads by Google

Inappropriate
Posts?
 Alert Us!

E-mail This Post

» Forums Help
» User Agreement
» Privacy Policy
» Community Rules
» Contact Interactivity
Management

About Us | User Agreement | Privacy Policy | Help/Feedback | Advertise With Us

RSS FEEDS

© 2008 New Jersey On-Line LLC. All Rights Reserved.